

Focus on healthy living. Return to Good Health. Return 2 Nature.

Today's fast-paced world and lifestyles often dictate fast-paced diets that deprive our bodies of proper nutrition.

Our Return 2 Nature supplements allow you to eliminate the harmful chemicals delivered in many synthetic formulations and may help restore proper balance and nutrition.

Return 2 Nature is not just a name, but a way of life. This new brand of supplements returns to us what nature intended all along — the correct blend of essential vitamins, para-vitamins, minerals and trace minerals in an effective amino acid complex.

Return 2 Nature's proprietary formula includes important nutrient co-factors — proteins, lipids and complex carbohydrates — to naturally balance the body's retention, absorption and utilization rates for maximum gain.

Nature's Call

Nature has called out to us with a model for enhanced nutrition — a way to blend healthy products that work together in the harmony nature intended. The same vitamins and minerals found in nature are available in two proprietary blends that provide better body absorption, retention and utilization than isolated chemicals can possibly offer — Return 2 Nature Heart Formula and Return to Nature Fountain of Youth.

Choose Return 2 Nature and Return 2 Health.

Nature's Concern

In recent years, many laboratory scientists have concentrated on developing supplements that they believe imitate nature's powerful nutritional ingredients. Unfortunately, they were wrong.

In their rush to get their products to market, they overlooked the true complexity of nature's real food. The isolated chemicals they marketed as vitamins are really very different from true vitamins found in nature.

Because typical supplements on the market are incomplete, our bodies can not recognize them as vitamins or use them the way nature intends. Instead, our bodies identify them as unusable or toxic and discard them.

Knowing that, others have tried to add food factors to their chemical products, but they produced only separate components lacking the natural chemical structure our bodies need for proper absorption, retention and utilization.

Nothing compares with the miracles of nature or with what nature offers in abundance — a spectrum of rich nutrients and vitamins given in gifts of fruits and vegetables. Luckily, when we have no time to eat right, Nature's menu still offers everything our bodies need for healthy living — all packaged together in easily and properly digested supplements that replenish us and deliver exactly what our bodies need.
